AMWARE SELECTED FOR ACCURACY & IMMEDIACY

Atlanta, GA – December 2005: Starting off this year's holiday season, we at Amware would like to welcome our most recent addition to our Atlanta, Georgia Public Warehouse. Our customer is a manufacturer of products used for emergency power management and backup battery applications; they are a full-scale supplier of backup power solutions for the telecommunications industry.

Through strategic alliances with battery and power equipment manufacturers, our customer is able to deliver full lifecycle power management products and services. And, through a new found relationship with Amware Logistics, they are positioned as a premier provider of turnkey solutions that address all major backup power challenges, including:

- Increasing network reliability
- Managing large deployments of battery backup systems
- Meeting specifications for backup power runtime
- Servicing and replacing batteries and power equipment in the field
- Controlling internal maintenance expenses

Amware's Atlanta based Craftsmen understand – “Our customer provides backup emergency power applications as tools to protect society from disaster interruption” says Eric Potts, Amware's longtime Operations Manager and Distinguished Craftsman. “With this comes an inherent responsibility on our part: accuracy & immediacy. We have a responsibility to provide quality service and timely distribution so that our customer can reach its clients; our Craftsmen and women eagerly await the opportunity to shine”.
