Habitat for Humanity HABI-JAX Jacksonville, FL

Jacksonville, FL – November 2003: Amware representatives in Jacksonville recently teamed up with fellow First Coast Manufacturers Association (FCMA) members to help support the regional chapter of Habitat for Humanity: Habi-Jax.

In special recognition of their efforts, Robert Collier, Eric Stewart, and Felipe Lopez of Amware Logistics were presented with a certificate of appreciation at the monthly general meeting of the FCMA. All three had volunteered their time to help get a new home ready for a deserving recipient.

Habi-Jax is the Jacksonville, Florida affiliate of Habitat for Humanity International. It is a joint venture in which homeowners are empowered to become involved in all aspects of the work. Each Habi-Jax homeowner is required to invest 300 hours of labor, called "sweat equity", into the construction of his or her and other Habi-Jax homes; the rest of the work force consists of volunteers just like Amware's representatives.

The FCMA is a regional Trade Association representing over 300 manufacturers and related businesses in the Northeast Florida region and Southeast Georgia. Members are composed of all facets of the manufacturing community from small machine shops to large bottlers. Their goal is to influence public sentiment on the importance of manufacturing to the 'First Coast' economy and to offer educational workshops and serve as a political voice and training for member firms.

Amware Logistics Services is an active member of this association.

The Amware participants earned a positive reception for their willingness to get their hands dirty. City Council President, Lad Daniels, spoke separately to each of our people to demonstrate his personal gratitude for their enthusiastic approach to the project.
