AMWARE LOGISTICS ACQUIRES DISTRIBUTION SERVICES OF ATLANTA

Atlanta, GA– September 2006: Amware Logistics, headquartered in Eagle, Colorado, is pleased to announce the successful asset acquisition of Distribution Services of Atlanta (DSA).

As a deeply entrenched warehousing and logistics provider DSA owns, manages, and or leases more than 1 million square feet in the greater Atlanta market. Imbedded in these warehousing and distribution operations are a myriad of material handling services ranging from pick & pack operations to cross docking and regional transportation.

“The acquisition of DSA is an extremely positive step for each of our companies and our respective customers”, says Mark Wilhelm, CEO of Amware Logistics. “We are confident that it will strengthen our combined positioning as a very strong regional provider of 3rd Party Logistics and increase our ability to exceed our customers' ever evolving needs".

Hugh Tait, President of DSA offers that, "DSA's resilient history in Atlanta, coupled with Amware's solid brand recognition in both Atlanta and Jacksonville will allow us to stand-tall amongst our competition and provide our customers with expanded opportunities not otherwise available".

"This acquisition increases Amware's broad reach to over two million (2MM) square feet of operations in the warehousing arena", says Amware's President, Rob Doyle. And, coupled with Amware's extensive contract manufacturing operations which span 18 cities nationwide, Amware Logistics now manages an impressive 3½ million square feet. "In the coming months and years we will strive to build upon Amware's and DSA's respective and time-honored successes", offers Mr. Doyle. "We will cultivate from best-of-breed practices and bring innovation to our customers' doorsteps".
